Research Administration Training Seminar

Reference Material
Deception at Duke: Fraud in cancer care?

Did Anil Potti, Former Duke Cancer Researcher, Conduct Research Fraud?

Watch the Segment »
Were some cancer patients at Duke University given experimental treatments based on fabricated data? Scott Pelley reports.

Web Extras
Deception at Duke
Not a Rhodes Scholar
Examining what went wrong at Duke

The group is seeking compensatory and punitive damages in the case, alleging that Duke tried to cover up questions about the research and performed unnecessary chemotherapy on people in hopes of patenting and spinning off a cancer-screening test.

Introduction
Jay Walsh, Vice President for Research

Introduction
Research Administration Training

The need for research administration training exists because of the large dollar amounts in research funding and the importance of compliance:

- Northwestern received $621.3 million in research funding in FY 2015
- Northwestern ranked 22nd in NIH and 34th in NSF research funding to universities in FY 2014
- Ensuring compliance remains a federal priority

Research Administration Training

Research Administration training helps Northwestern:

- Decrease compliance risks
- Administer grants more consistently & efficiently
- Provide support for research administrators, faculty & staff
- Meet federal government expectations regarding training and communication
Training Objectives

During this seminar we will:

• Explain the research administration process

• Discuss the roles & responsibilities of research faculty and staff

• Describe the roles of the central research offices

• Review the regulatory fundamentals that form the foundation of research administration
Questions?

Introduction